Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

This coming Sunday is Polish Constitution Day. It means to the Poles, what the Fourth of July means to Americans. For on May 3, 1791, the Diet of Poland adopted a constitution which reflected in its essential featuers the revolutions of France and America. A constitutional monarchy was established which stripped the nobles of many of their privileges and powers.

But Poland was short lived as a nation. Four years after the adoption of the constitution the country was divided between Russia, Germany and Austria, and for a century and a half, Poles lived in subsercience to the three spoiler nations. Under that dog-eat-dog policy, one of the dogs that ate Poland, has since fallen to one of the original aggressors. That country is Austria. Russia and Germany have now divided Poland between them. But Poles cling to their ideal of liberty with a courageous tenacity. Freemen have unlimited reservoirs of valor on which to draw.

From its more than a century of oppression Poland rose again. They have to thank for that revival of national life our own hero of the First World war, President Wilson. Its independence was recognized and re-established by the Treaty of Versailles, June 28, 1919. For twenty years the Poles again breathed the air of liberty, and lived in the bright sun of national freedom. Then Hitler struck and today the far flung Polish legions are brilliantly vindicating their right to existence as a free people.

One of the considerations that the leaders of the United Nations are today anxiously pondering is the future of Poland. There will be little dispute with a beaten Germany regarding the restoration of Poland. But with Russia on the side of the victorious United Nations, there is ground for grave apprehension. Americans who love their country, and who celebrate its independence on July 4, may well give a thought to Poland. next Sunday.

Poland has been German-occupied since the autumn of 1939 but thousands of Poles are still fighting the Germans in the armies of the United Nations. Many escaped after the defeat, reached France and then England. The Polish Embassy says that there are 42,000 in the First Polish Corps which was organized and re-outfitted in England; some 15,000 in the air corps (pilots and ground crews). Many of these troops have subsequently seen action in Africa and other places. In the Near East or Egypt is also the Polish Highland Brigade, 15,000 mountaineers from the Carpathians. Another small but legend making outfit in the Near East is the Officers' Legion—1,500 men serving as privates who once were Polish officers of all grades from second lieutenant to lieutenant colonel.

In the history of the world, it is doubtful if any people ever suffered greater cruelties, greater injustice, or greater calamities at the hands of agressor nations than has Poland. Gallantly the Poles fight on. Families have been torn asunder, hundreds of thousands have been starved to death, have died of wounds and concentration camp atrocities or have stood up before German firing squads and have been mowed down as wheat falls before a reaper. Thousands more have been impressed in industrial slavery in German factories. Yet the Poles carry on, and by giving everything they possess to the cause of the United Nations, they bespeak and merit generous consideration when the peace is signed.

No patriotic American will countenance any settlement in the peace when it is established which does not restore to Poland its ancient boundaries and its independence. We might add that we hope that every German, every foreign person on its soil will be ruthlessly removed so that never again can any nation raise the cry that the Poles are not treating its foreign populations justly. For, once those foreigners are removed, there will be no chance of irredentist activity. Poland belongs to the Poles.

Fourth Draft Registration Totals 2,200

The number of Nevada Countyans between the ages of 45 and 65 who registered under the Selective Service Act Saturday, Sunday and Monday exceeded 2,200, Clerk Merle Morrison of the Nevada County Selective Board revealed today.

In Nevada City the number registering was 546. A total of 1251 registered in Grass Valley, 55 at Indian Springs, 70 at North San Juan, 23 at North Bloomield, 154 at Truckee 35 at Soda Springs, 38 at Chicago Park and 18 at Washington. Graniteville has not sent in a report yet.

The number signing up in the fourth registration brought the total of men under jurisdiction of the Nevada County Selective Service Board to 6400.

The first registration and the registration which followed for men reaching the age of 21 produced 3,012 names. The third registration, held in February, resulted in a sign-up of 1193.

The men between 20 and 45 who registered in February are now receiving their questionnaires. Because most of them are family men not many of that group are expected to be eligible for induction into military service.

It is doubtful whether the 2200 who signed Saturday, Sunday and Monday will be used for military purposes. The registration was principally to determine the number of men in the United States available for labor purposes under the war effort.

Local Chamber Issues Pamphlet Describing Town

A neat pamphlet describing the climate, water, school, churches, homes and recreation of Nevada City —A Friendly City—has been published by the local Chamber of Commerce and will be distributed in various cities, principally Marysville, in an attempt to attract new residents into this community.

After setting forth all the advantages to a pleasant life in Nevada City, the pamphlet concludes:

"Come to Nevada City. If the information in these pages interests you and you are looking for a place where you and your family can enjoy life far from the heat of the summer in the valley, we cordially invite you to pay us a visit and see for yourself what we have to offer. If you are employed elsewhere, but wish to have your family located amidst these pleasant surroundings, come to our city and we will see that you are taken care of in the matter of getting you located."

LOCAL WOMAN GOES ON TRIAL

Mrs. Maurice Packer, charged with selling liquor to a minor, went on trial here today before Justice of the Peace Charles Morehouse.

The complaint against Mrs. Packer was signed by Sheriff C. J. Tobiassen. The local woman is accused of selling the liquor to John Williams, of North Sacramento ,a minor. Williams is serving a jail term here for purchasing liquor.

18 BABIES EXAMINED

Eighteen babies were examined by D. B. W. Hummelt at the well baby clinic held yesterday at the Nevada City Elementary School. Dr. Hummelt and Mrs. Isabel Hefelfinger, school nurse, gave mothers valuable information on the care of the children.

Local Anglers Will Fish Near Home Opening Day

The opening of trout season tomorrow will find many Nevada Cityans off to their favorite fishing spots on the streams in this area. There will be no lake fishing, except at Scotts Flat, because either the lakes are frozen over or inacessible due to the satest storm.

Local fishermen will confine their opening day activities to Deer Creek, Scotts Flat Reservoir, Poorman Creek, the forks of the Yuba River and possibly the Truckee River.

There are different schools of thought on whether fishing is permissible at Boca Reservoir, where last year many from here and hundreds from various other sections hooked limits. The irrigation district which controls the waters of the reservoir has announced there will be no fishing at the dam but California Fish and Game Commission can see no reason why fishing should not be permitted. The reservoir is in California but the water is owned by the Fallon, Nev., irrigation district.

It is well to remember that there are certain restrictions this year for the fishermen. They must keep away from dams and bridges.

Most local fishermen plan to use bait the opening day. The weather has not warmed sufficiently for flies. Angle worms and salmon eggs are considered the best lures.

In commenting upon the closure policy recently issued by Regional Forester S. B. Show for all national forests in the California region supervisor Guerdon Ellis of the Tahoe National Forest states that fishermen in the main may enjoy their sport beginning the first day of May as of old throughout the thousands of miles of streams and hunrreds of acres of lakes within the Tahoe National Forest. No more closures will be in effect than have been previously announced. It will be remembered last fall certain areas about power plants and dams such as Lakes Spaulding and Bowman were closed to use.

"At that time these areas were carefully posted and we are asking the sportsmen to cooperate in the interest of national defense by refraining from entering upon these closed lands," Ellis stated.

Throughout the summer season, added Supervisor Ellis, it is hoped it will not be necessary to invoke any further restrictions upon the use of federal lands in the Tahoe National Forest. The severity of the coming fire season will determine that. If carelessness in the use of fire by regular users of the forest can be eliminated and especially if willful setting of fires by fifth columnists is stamped out and will not be toleated by aroused public opinion which recognizes the need for conserving all of the resources of the forest for the successful prosecution of the war, there will be no further restrictions on the use and enjoyment of the Tahoe National Forest.

HOLIDAY

Nevada City school children get a break tomorrow, the opening day of fishing season.

Because Nevada City Unified School District officials believe the opening day of fishing would result in many absences, especially by boys, a holiday has been declared.

The holiday applies both to the high school and elementary school.

CIVIC CLUB CARD PARTY SATURDAY

The Women's Civic Club card party will be held Saturday night at the Nevada City Elementary School Auditorium.

The proceeds from the party will replenish the treasury of the Civic Club, which has since it has been organized, appropriated a total of $2,507.85 for civic and charitable projects.

Prizes of all kinds will be given at the card party. In addition to prizes for contract and auction bridge, whist, mah jong and other card game winners, there will be many door prizes.

REMODELING

Robert Steger and Sons, local contracting firm, are remodeling the Mrs. Martha Dillon home on Broad Street. The house was damaged in a fire several weeks ago.

SALVAGING AT MURCHIE MINE HAS FINISHED

Salvaging operations at the Murchie Mine have been completed by the Empire-Star Mines, Ltd., and all personnel except for two men have been transferred to the Gray Eagle Mine at Happy Camp, Siskiyou County.

The Murchie formerly was Nevada City's largest gold producer and one of the leading gold mines of the state. A $150,000 development program, which included the driving of a 6000 foot crosscut toward Banner Mountain, apparently did not reveal ore in sufficient quantity and quality and the decision to abandon the property was reached.

A crew of 15 men had been employed for the past several months in salvaging work. Much of the equipment will be used at the Gray Eagle Mine, where operations are under the direction of R. J. Hendricks, formerly general manager of the Murchie.

DR. G. A. WERNER WILL BE LOCAL FORUM SPEAKER

The Nevada City Public Forum on current events and international relations will have Dr. G. A. Werner as lecturer at tonight's forum meeting in the Nevada City Elementary School.

Dr. Werner, professor of history at the College of Pacific, will have as his topic: "The Future of the Pacific." Following Dr. Werner's lecture there will be an hour devoted to discussions.

Tonight's lecture is next to the last of the annual spring forum meetings sonsored by the Nevada City Unified School District.

Dr. Werner has made previous appearances here and is considered an outstanding authority on Latin America on the Pacific Coast.

MACBOYLE OFF TO WASHINGTON

Errol MacBoyle of the Idaho-Maryland Mines Corporation and the president of the state mining board, has left for Washington, D. C., to appear before congressional committees in the interest of the California mining industry.

He plans to express California views to the senate silver committee on May 5th when the question of priorities for gold and silver mining equipment is taken up.

House Passes Bill Suspending Claim Work

Congressman Harry L. Englebright of Nevada City has advised Mrs. Ed Martine that the House of Representatives passed H. R. 6604 to provide fo the suspension of annual assessment work on mining claims in the United States and Alaska during the years beginning July 1, 1941 and ending July 1, 1943.

"The bill also provides," Englebright's letter to Mrs. Martine reads, "that every claimant of any mining claim file on or before July 1, 1942, and July 1, 1943, a notice of his desire to hold said mining claim.

"It provides further that suspension of assessment work shall not apply to more than six lode mining claims held by the same person, nor to more than twelve lode mining claims held by the same partnership, association, or corporation; and also that suspension of assessment work shall not apply to more than six placer mining claims nor to exceed one hundred and twenty acres held by the same person nor to more than twelve placer mining claims not to exceed two hundred and forty acres held by the same partnership or corporation.

"As you know," the letter concludes, "I have been deeply interested in this bill and used every effort to have the bill reported by the committee and to have the same passed by the house. I will continue to use my best energies to have the bill acted favorably upon by the senate."

Rotary Governor

Paul Claiborne of Auburn, District 105 Rotary Governor, presided jointly with Roy Dremmen, 104 District Governor, at the Rotary convention held this week in Oakland.

Rotary Club Given News Of Conclave

The group of Nevada City Rotarians who attended the convention held in Oakland Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday rendered a report on the conclave today at the Rotary Club meeting here.

Today's gathering was held at the high school and the meal was served by the boy students of the home economics class. Rev. David Ralston was program chairman.

In addition to a report on the district convention, the Rotarians enjoyed an address by Dr. G. A. Werner, who is to be the lecturer at the Nevada City Public Forum meeting here tonight.

Those repesenting the local Rotary Club at the Oakland convention were H. E. Kjorlie, president; Carroll Coughlan, president-elect; Fred C. Garrison, secretary; Beryl Robinson, past director and Hal Draper, director elect.

There were 1700 Rotarians at the convention. Districts 104 and 105 held their conclaves jointly. Paul Claiborne, governor of District 105 and Roy Dremmen, governor of District 104 presided at the business sessions.

MRS. HAL DRAPER TO BE PRESIDENT OF CIVIC CLUB

The nominating committee of the Nevada City Women's Civic Club have selected the following slate of officers:

Mrs. Hal Draper, president; Mrs. Max Williams, first vice president; Mrs. Jack Siegfried, second vice president; Mrs. H. E. Kjorlie, secretary and Mrs. Roy Zimmerman, treasurer.

The election will be held at the May meeting and the new officers will be seated on the fourth Tuesday in May.

The report of the nominating committee was made at the Tuesday meeting of the Civic Club.

One of the highlights of the meeting was a review of John Steinbeck's latest book, "The Moon Is Down." The review was given by Mrs Ge.orge Legg.

TUCKER NOW AT HAPPY CAMP

Eugene Tucker, who recently arrived from South Africa, where he had been employed for several years by the Newmont Mining Corporation has left for Happy Camp to work at the Gray Eagle copper mine, also a property of the Newmont company.

Caught in the Riffles

There is one man in Nevada City oozing with optimism over the future prospects for the community.

He is A. C. (Gus) Presley, local realtor. Presley announces he has closed several deals for the sale of houses in this city this month, adding that the buyers are from all parts of the state and are purchasing property here with the intention of making their future home in this community.

"I have made more cash deals during the last two months than in any two previous years in the real estate business." Presley said.

The local real estate man said people are impressed with the climatic and scenic advantages of Nevada City but one of the chief reasons for the heavy real estate turnover is, he believes, the expectation of coast area residents that eventually there will be bombing fo.rays by the Japanese and they desire to establish their families in a zone of safety.

Four score and ten belong to the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce. In attendance at the chamber meeting Tuesday night were:

President George Gildersleeve.

Secretary H. F. (Si) Sofge.

A pageant, The History of Nevada City, was presented today by Mrs. Elza Kilroy's seventh grade class at the Nevada City Elementary School Auditorium.

A real thrill was experienced by the student spectators and teachers alike when a replica of Engine No. 1 of the Narrow Gauge Railroad was used to demonstrate one of the most important events in the city's history, the completion of the railroad to Nevada City from Colfax in 1876.

Credit for the construction of the replica of Engine No. 1 goes to Donald Hoskin, John Morrison, Walter Rore and John Odgers, assisted by Mrs. Kilroy.

One friend says he has the sugar problem solved. He will buy sugar doughnuts and scrape the sugar off with a toothbrush. Others are experimenting with substitutes. Instead of sugar a local resident the other morning used prune juice in his coffee. He liked it fine. At the Nevada County Hospital sugar rationing started early. For each cup of coffee a patient is entitled to one spoonful of sugar.

Well, retailers, wholesalers, restaurant proprietors, etc., have registered under the rationing program. Applications for sugar rationing cards will be made Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week for individual and household consumption.

We have been asked to remind those who eat in resturants almost exclusively that they also must get rationing card and turn them over to the proprietor of the place in which they eat.

This coming weekend Nevada City will lose one of its finest families.

The Bettles will be moving to Los Angeles, where they will make their home at least for the duration of the war.

The departure of the Bettles gives Nevada Cityans an additional reason for being mad at the Japs. If it hadn't been for the Japs the Bettles would continue to reside in Nevada City.

Gordon Bettles, head of the family, is a Japanese captive in the Philippine Islands. Bettles was a mine manager in the Philippines and of course since his capture by the Japs the sending of money to his family here has stopped.

Mrs. Bettles and two daughters will reside with relatives in Los Angeles and possibly all three will obtain work in that city.

The Bettles home here will be occupied by the Dennis Coughlans, who were informed recently they must vacate the home on Main Street in which they had lived for 17 years. The house was owned by the late A. Baruh and Baruh's sister, Mrs. I. Zellerbach, plans to maintain the house as a summer home for herself and friends.

CALIFORNIANS COVER THE WAR

With the world one vast battlefield, with propaganda as important as panzers and words as deadly as bullets. California newsmen are unhampered by censorship, save common war correspondents. Moreover, these predominately California newsmen are hampered by censorship, save for common sense restrictions on information that might be of immediate aid to America's enemies.

That healthy picture of the relationship between press and public and government in our democracy at war was presented last week by John B. Long, general manager of the California Newspaper Publishers' Association, before a representative gathering of western newsmen and advertising men at the Palace Hotel in San Francisco. "Today all of the war fronts and major world capitals find American newspapermen manning the bureaus of the AP, UP and INS." Long declared. "seeing things with American eyes, recording them in American hearts, and writing them for American readers with American brains. Americans are the most enlightened people on earth; and Californians are the most fortunate of American newspaper readers. for the roll of California trained newspapermen in the foreign news service is amazingly large."

Interpreting his own news, Publisher Long attributed the vigor and thoroughness of American press coverage of the war to a freedom that goes deeper than freedom from the blue pencil of extreme war censorship. "The American newspaper publisher, large or small, daily or weekly, gambles his personal possessions and fortune if he has one, against his ability to produce and distribute a newspaper that you and I as the readers in his community will accept and patronize," he said. "That's what maintains his circulation. Circulation maintains his advertising. And that's what I call economc freedom of the press."

"BETTER THAN HOLLYWOOD"

Technically, it is a concentration camp—that new boom city of interned Japanese civilians at Manzanar. In Nazidom the term "concentration camp" connotes brutality, privation, filth, disease. hopelessness.

From Manzanar, in Japanese schoolboy style, Emon Tatsui, of Hollywood, wrote the other day to his former employer, movie executive Murphy McHenry: "Nice place to live: It better than Hollywood. No blackout in here. There are liberty, safe and build up new life. Hundreds of carpenter. Hundreds plummer. Hundreds so and so working hard to build up. Good ball ground. Baseball field. Swimming pool. School building. Dance-room is about start building then movie is next . ."

The actions of a nation, like those of a man, reveal its character. A civilized nation could only treat interned enemy aliens in a humane and generous manner. But decency isn't to be mistaken for weakness—as one Jap general must have reflected ruefully before MacArthur's thoughness drove him to suicide!

IT'S A TWO-WAY OCEAN

To the grim satisfaction of an America that remembers Pearl Harbor vividly, American bombers have made the very palace grounds of the Mikado shake with blastings from the skies of Nippon. The Jap now knows that the Pacific is a two-way ocean.

But so must the American—particularly the Californian bear in mind that the revengeful Jap war lords will never rest until, if it is possible, they have bombed our west coast mainland. Our defenses are strong, but no coast is immune to attack by sea-borne aircraft.

If air raids do come to us, it must be the role of Californians to bear the injuries and fight back staunchly—and never to entertain the thought of calling the fleet home for our protection, but rather to urge that our forces attack Japan ceaselessly and mercilessly—attack and attack—until our lives and property are secured through Japan's utter defeat.

Those who support a brother,
sister, mother,
Or some relative or other,
Who's neither child no cheery little wife,
Must learn to like the life,
That's lived in rugged army camps and such,
They'll soon be drafted—very much.

It's a fact some three-A men will have to go,
By Fall, as now we know.
By that time a hot and heavy situation,
Will confront our stalwart nation.
Man power will be the burning question then,
Or where to get sufficient men?

Men with dependent wives and hungry little chillun, Won't be drafted, 'less they're willin'.
At least, not now, not soon, not 'till a later date—
Their rendezvous with fate,
Will be postponed, put off, delayed,
So none should be dismayed.

Uncle Sam is human, and a thing
he hates to do,
Is to take and break in two,
A family such as you—and yours
that's now together,
Though of course the question's whether,
He needs you—and if he does, how badly—
If he does of course, it's gladly,
Though withal a little sadly—that a man goes off to war,
To give his best and more.

Army spokesmen say it's likely—his words ring very true—
Eventually they'll draft anew, Men with wives and children—if there should rise a need,
That may be soon indeed.
So not too far in the future we may all bear war-time part—
And that alone will give us heart!

We may bear a part in the fighting,
And eventually in righting,
The sorry affairs in which this sorry
world,
Has long been whirled.
And we may have a brave and noble
part to nobly play,
For this fervently we pray!

GEMS OF THOUGHT

GRATITUDE

Cicero calls gratitude the mother of virtues, the most capital of all duties, and uses the words grateful and good as synonymous terms, inseparably united in the same character.—Bate.

A man of a grumbling spirit may eat a very poor dinner from silver plate, while one with a grateful heart may feast upon a crust.—E. P. Brown.

Gratitude is much more than a verbal expression of thanks. Action expresses more gratitude than speech.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Is not that the truest gratitude which strives to widen the horizon of human happiness and to make our fellows sharers in that which has gladdened us?—H. C. Potter.

It is another's fault if he be ungrateful, but it is mine if I do not give. To find one thankful man, I will oblige a great many that are not so.—Seneca.

No longer forward nor behind
But I look in hope or fear;
But, grateful, take the good I find,
The best of now and here.

RESERVE FORCE TO BE ORGANIZED IN CALIFORNIA

A meeting of county officers with Governor Olson in Sacramento Frida was attended by District Attorney Vernon Stoll, Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen and City Judge Miles Coughlin.

To the strain of martial music and with the assertion that military authorities believe California has grounds for fearing invasion, Governor Olson at the meeting launched a move to recruit a uniformed military of 100,000 boys and men.

A proclamation calling for the enlistment of able bodied males between the ages of 16 and 65 was read by Governor Olson.

Until the government is able to supply arms and equipment, the men who volunteer for this "organized reserve force of the California state militia" will be expected to supply their own weapons, in addition to training and drilling on their own time and furnishing their own uniforms.

The enrollees are to pledge that the newly formed state militia—entirely separate from the state and national guards—will be called into active service only in the event of an enemy attack by air or land and that even then, service will be obligatory only within the confines of the enlistee's home county.

Final Services Held For Matt Ronta, 65

Final rites were held yesterday at the Holmes Funeral Home here for Matt Ronta, 65, caretaker at the Hoge Mine. Ronta died Monday afternoon at the Nevada County Hospital, where he had been taken a few days previous after he was stricken with an illness.

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder about gardens—
Not the dear, old fashioned gardens,
Filled with sweet old fashioned flowers
That we loved so long ago;
But the sturdy wartime gardens,
The essential Victory gardens,
Where the cabbages and carrots
And the strong red onions grow.

I wonder how many of us are planting Victory gardens under the blue skies and warm sunlight of early spring—gardens filled with homely, but essential vegetables which will, when mature, aid in keeping the family well fed and physically fit. The reply seems obvious, for every one we meet and talk with is garden minded and thsi year the lowly vegetable is certainly coming into its own.

Flower gardens are of secondary importance in war time—but they will not be entirely neglected. Here in free America, we may still find time to plant a pansy bed, train our cherished vines and inhale the fragrance of rose and mignonette. The cultivation of beauty is one of our inherent rights, perhaps the sturdy vegetable will help to preserve that right, until the day comes when we may once more indulge in its delights more freely.

I wonder why the men folk have, for so long a time, been allowed to usurp the benefits and pleasures of raising vegetables, the Victory garden will change all that; the girls will find so much satisfaction in tasks they are now assuming, that they will refuse to relinquish them when the need is past.

Come into the gardens girls. Victory gardeners all, this is going to be genuine sport beside which golf, tennis and sun bathing will seem flat, stale and innane. The Victory garden will afford us healthful out of door exercise, entertainment and real enjoyment. Think of preparing the warm, brown earth for the reception of curious little seeds and bulbs, think of waiting for the appearance of the first tender green shoots. Think of watching living things your hands have planted, growing steadily day by day, until they reach full maturity and are ready for consumption by your self and your approving family. Think of stepping out into your own garden and finding there a noble cabbage or a glowing pumpkin which you have raised by hand and then whispering to yourself, "my garden—these things which I have tended with care are helping in their small way to win this deadly war and to maintain the standard of living, demanded by an intelligent and liberty loving peole."

We need our little garden
For the lessons they will teach us,
For the faith and hope and courage
To be found in living things.
For the tenderness and beauty
Which from bird and flower shall reach us,
And the dear, home loving spirit
Where a wee nest gently swings.

—A. Merriam Conner.

YAWP AT WALL STREET CEASES

By CLEM WHITAKER

Back in the soft, dead days before Pearl Harbor, when Big Business took a public beating before every election, and when "production" was just a stuffy word known to trade executives, politicians often considered it smart strategy to launch their campaigns by telling their constituents that Wall Street was the controlling stockholder and the big, bad wolf of American business.

For the rabble rouser in need of an issue, it was sure-fire stuff, even though Wall Street influence on the American scene has been waning for several decades, and seats on the New York Stock Exchange aren't what they used to be.

This year, however, that issue, which once served the politicians so well is as dead as a well salted mackerel. The American system of private enterprise has gained sudden respectability, even with those who traduced it the most. The industrialist, the business man, the farmer—and all their top hands—are "soldiers of production," rolling the pellets and forging the weapons for America's armed forces.

This year, it can be told, without fear or recriminations, who the biggest stockholder in American business actually is. And despite all you have heard in bygone elections, it's not Wall Street. It's the fellow with the whiskers — your stern visaged Uncle Sam.

The General Electric Company, in its annual statement for last year, reported for example, that the amount provided for federal income and excess profits taxes was equivalent to $4.16 a share. As a result, the profit available for dividends to the stockholders (other than Uncle Sam) was equivalent to $1.98 a share. Its total tax bill for the year—$145,000,000!

Nearer home, Pacific Gas and Electric Company, in its annual report for 1941, announced that its taxes for the year amounted to $25,970,000, which was equivalent to $15.50 for every meter in service on the company's lines.

Recognizing government's position as a "big stockholder," the P. G. & E. report commented: "The growing importance of taxes as a factor in the determination of utility rates is indicated by the fact that the company's taxes last year were approximately $16,000,000 in excess of those payable only ten years previously. However, although taxes of all kinds in 1941 amounted to more than 22 per cent of the company's gross operating revenues, our rates for electric service at the close of the year were on a comparable basis with those of tax exempt publicly owned utilities opeating in the territory, and in many cases were actually lower."

Last year—before Pearl Harbor—it would have been rank heresy to print facts like that in a political column. But this year, business is no longer an "enemy"; business is helping to whip the enemy. Producers are respectable again. We're a funny people; now aren't we?

CIVIC CLUB IS THANKED BY WAR VETERAN

The Nevada City Women's Civic Club sent Easter gifts to a number of veterans in hospitals. Among the letters of appreciation received from these invalids was the following:

Dear Friend:

This will serve as a somewhat belated acknowledgment of the receipt of your very lovely Easter gift, and I want you to know that it was fully appreciated.

It is really very heartening to know that we of the last war have not been fogotten, even by those outside our own family circles. So, many many thanks to you! and I sincerely hope that you and yours had a very happy Easter.

The picture of the Tahoe-Ukiah Highway which you included brought back memories of better and happier days to me, as I have driven over it a good many times, for you see, I worked in the Murchie Mine for a time in 1937, and was at the Zeibright Mine at Emigrant Gap for a year and a half, so that part of the country is rather familiar to me.

This modernized warfare is a terrible and a costly thing, isn't it, and countless thousands of our boys in the prime of life will be sacrificed in it, so that the rest of us, may live, at least for a time, in the manner to which we have been born, and taught to regard as God given rights. My fervent hope is that this time they will accomplish what we of '17 and '18 thought we had done on November 11,, 1918. I only wish I were able to serve again this time instead of being in a hospital, but I shall have to reconcile myself to the fact that any chance I may have to serve is practically nil, at least in an offensive capacity. May God grant we may never have to fight here on U. S. A. soil!

Thank you again for helping me make Easter a day to remember, and may I suggest that you and your friends adopt one of the boys in the service, one at the front if possible, and write him a word of cheer and encouragement occasionally. I can assure you that "out there" where things can happen any hour, a letter from those at home is a prize, and the greatest incentive to good morale. Just to know that the folks at home are behind you every step of the way. With the best of good wishes I am,

Yours for God and Country
VINCENT P. DOYLE.

Nevada University Forecasts Scarcity Of School Teachers

Openings for the 1942 class of Univesity of Nevada-trained school teachers next fall are expected far to exceed the number of persons available.

With the need for school teachers likely to be greater than in past years, teaching is rapidly becoming one of the professions in which demand is greater than supply, Dr. F. G. Traner, Dean of Education at the university. said this week.

War factors which are increasing the demand for teachers in Nevada are mainly twofold: entry of male teachers into the armed forces, and the need for expanded school facilities occasioned by war industries.

In support of the latter, Dr. Traned pointed to Nevada's several rapidly growing communities where teachers have already been added to school staffs, with more additions inevitable.

Necessary teachers must come from three sources of supply, Dean Traner explained. These are: former teachers who have either kept up their certificates or can renew them with additional study, students now in training—at the University of Nevada and elsewhere, and teachers from other states.

Fire Damages Old Camptonville House

CAMPTONVILLE, April 30.—The home of Mrs. Grace Pauly and family on Main Street, was badly damaged and narrowly escaped destruction by fire at 11 o'clock Sunday morning. The fire which was of unknown origin, started in the attic away from any stove pipes, possibly from spontaneous combustion or from mice carrying matches, had made big headway before it was discovered.

The forest service fire fighting equipment was rushed to the scene and all the town responded and within a few minutes three hose lines were playing on the flames, and after an hour of stubborn resistance, the fire was extinguished. The entire attic was burned. The second floor was damaged by water.

YOUTH ACCUSED OF CAR THEFT TO BE TAKEN TO HUMBOLDT

Grand theft and burglary warrants against John Sanchez, 19, recovering in the county hospital here from a bullet wound inflicted by Highway Patrolman Melford Peterson have been received from Humboldt County.

The warrants have been served upon Sanchez, who is held under guard in the hospital. When he recovers he will be taken to Eureka for trial on charges of stealing an automobile, two accordions and a guitar.

Officer Peterson shot Sanchez when the latter sought to escape following his apprehension in a stolen car near Emigrant Gap.
